

Report attempted fraud

Do you consider that you have been the victim of a fraudulent investment offer? If so, please feel free to contact us. We will verify whether the offer made violates the legislation with which we supervise compliance. If that is the case, we will take the necessary measures (publish a warning, impose a fine, etc.). Reports by consumers show us where problems lie in the market. Each report can lead to an investigation by the FSMA.

Reports by consumers allow us to gain greater insight into the way fraudsters operate. The FSMA collects this information and hands it over to the judicial authorities.

Feel free to inform the FSMA if you come across a suspicious company that has not yet been the subject of a warning by the FSMA.

In addition to reporting to the FSMA, it is a good idea to file a complaint with the police. The contact information for the police is available on www.politie.be.

The FSMA does not have the legal competence to recover lost sums. But with your report, the FSMA can ensure other people will not be victims.
